Dear Sir/Madam:

The book proposal you have sent to Macmillan for consideration is being declined. I regret to inform you that a change in Macmillan policy in regard to unsolicited projects dictates this.

At this time, the Adult General Books Division of Macmillan Publishing is only accepting manuscripts through literary agents and similar channels or from previously published Macmillan authors.

I recommend that you refer to the LITERARY MARKET PLACE, published by R. R. Bowker Co., for further information on literary agents. It is available for perusal at most public libraries.

Best of luck in your publishing venture.

Yours,

THE EDITORS
